Dry Powder Aerosol Generator, a delivery system for dry powdered aerosol drugs

Technology #05-0077

A need exists for an improved delivery system of dry powdered aerosol drugs to patients that cannot consciously inhale deeply upon command to facilitate proper delivery of the drugs within the respiratory tract of the patient. The dry powder aerosol generator includes a dispersion chamber having an internal cavity capable of receiving a dry powdered drug.

Inventors

Anthony Hickey
For additional information, contact

Leodis Gupton
Commercialization Manager
champ.gupton@unc.edu
919.966.4132